Whitefish Bay Community Garden

Growing a healthy community...
one seed at a time.

Taking Root...

The Whitefish Bay Community Garden, originally established by a group of motivated high school students, is now under the management of the Whitefish Bay Recreation and Community Education Department. We are excited and proud to continue the tradition of providing organically grown fresh produce and flowers.

The Community Garden has not only grown fresh produce, but has also provided a strong sense of community for the volunteers of Whitefish Bay.

Reaping the Harvest...

The success of the garden relies on our donor and volunteers. We need a dedicated group of individuals willing to donate time and energy, money and materials to get the Community Garden off to a great start.

Work & Harvest Days:

Volunteers are needed to maintain the garden, harvest the produce, and assist in seasonal clean-ups. Most importantly, volunteers will have the opportunity to take home fresh produce, herbs and flowers.

Social & Educational Events:

Volunteering in the garden is not all work and no play. Various Social and educational events will be held throughout the season for those who lend a hand. These events include seminars on organic gardening and cooking demonstrations using the produce harvested from the Community Garden.

To Volunteer...

If you are interested in volunteering, please fill out the form on the back. Volunteers will receive notification of work and harvest days and will be able to sign up for the days and timeslots online.

To Donate...

Donations to the Community Garden are needed to support the cost of plants, tools, maintenance and coordination of the garden. If you are interested in donating, please fill out the form on the back.
